The Renaissance Family of Companies

Renaissance Health Service Corporation is a not-for-profit organization comprised of companies that focus on affordable health care benefits, employee benefit and claim management services, and access cards to reduce health care costs for small groups and individuals. The Renaissance family of companies dates back to 1957, and today has offices in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, New York, and Florida in the United States. International business development activities are spearheaded through the Renaissance office in Melbourne, Australia.

Collectively, Renaissance provides coverage for more than six million people, making it among the largest dental health care enterprises in the United States.

Renaissance Dental Network

Renaissance Dental Network, LLC (RDN) is a dental network integrator that provides clients with a seamless, single source solution for dental network needs nationwide. RDN provides access to multiple networks quilted together to facilitate the greatest possible discount coupled with administrative ease. RDN utilizes its national and regional contracts to reprice dental bills for its large number of payor clients. RDN also accesses Continuous Discount Agreements in order to provide the least disruption to both the patient and the provider. This comprehensive approach to dental network management will furnish a more thorough and accessible solution for both the employer group and the individual member than is available through any other alternative.

RDN also performs consultative analysis, review and network comparisons in order to assist our clients in determining how best to meet the needs of the greatest number of their members.

Accessing the Renaissance Dental Network will not interrupt service to your clients — no need to have a new ID card and members do not need to change dentists.

What are the benefits to partnering with RDN?
